Indiana State Senator David Ford is blazing new trails in the legislature. To our knowledge, the Republican from Hartford City (which is in the Sixth Congressional District) is the first and only member of the Indiana General Assembly to have his own blog. As regular readers of the Pence blog know, this is a great way to maintain communication with constituents and is the cutting edge of technology.

Way to go Senator Ford!